

Bibliography

---

Projects

1. Findhorn Ecovillage in Moray, Scotland, since 1980s
<http://www.ecovillagefindhorn.com/>
2. Hammarby Sjöstad, Stockholm, Sweden, since 1990s
Masterplan by Stockholm City Planning Bureau; Buildings by more than 20 architects and developers
3. Glass Pyramid, Kolding, Denmark- wastewater treatment system
<http://www.cardiff.ac.uk/archi/programmes/cost8/index.html>
4. Cape Cod Bioshelter, Canada
by Solsearch Architects (now BGHJ Architects, PEI Canada)
5. Plaza de Desierto, Barakaldo, Spain, 1999-2002
by Architect Eduardo Arroyo

Technology

1. Greenhouse village, the green-house-powered neighborhood
www.innovatienetwerk.org/en/
2. EcoFutura - Bleiswijk, The Netherlands
Integrated Cultivation of Tilapia and Tomatoes in Greenhouse,
3. Aquacultural Water in Cape Cod Ark
by Earle Barnhart, 2007 (<http://www.nature.my.cape.com/greencenter/newalchemy.html>)
4. ENVAC automated waste collection in Hammarby Sjöstad, Sweden
http://www.envacgroup.com/web/Hammarby\_Sjostad.aspx
5. ELKAS - Electricity-Producing Greenhouse
Article: "greenhouse with an integrated concentrated PV system" - 22nd European Photovoltaic

Literature

1. Edible Cities - A report of a visit to urban agriculture projects in the U.S.A.
by Colin Buttery, Royal Parks, Tony Leach, London Parks and Green Spaces Forum Catherine Miller, Federation of City Farms and Community Gardens, Ben Reynolds, London Food Link(Sustain) 2008
2. Green Urbanism: Learning from European Cities
by Timothy Beatley (Online resources via TU Delft Library)
3. Bioshelter Guidebook: Bioshelter Research by New Alchemy (1971-1991)
by Earle Barnhart, 2007 (<http://www.nature.my.cape.com/greencenter/newalchemy.html>)
4. Energy manual - Sustainable architecture (Detail Construction Manual)
by Fuchs, Matthias, Stark, Thomas, Zeumer, Martin
5. Our Ecological Footprint: Reducing human impact on the Earth
by Mathis Wackernagel & William Rees

Photo credits: